LONDON, July 23.—Labor's attempt to swing the house of commons toward a policy calling for an international disarmament conference broke down late tonight after Prime Minister Baldwin clearly stated the government's opposition to the plan.

Previously the Conservatives had tried to sidetrack labor's project by proposing that the whole burden of reducing Europe's armaments be dumped on the league of nations. When a division was taken just before midnight the figures were 256 to 169, in favor of the government.

Before Mr. Baldwin's speech, which pointed out that nationalism was the chief obstacle to early disarmament, the commons showed enthusiasm as they listened to "pacifist" speeches.

Fighting Insult Still Exists.

Mr. Baldwin said the fighting instinct of human nature was one of the greatest stumbling blocks in the way of calling an international conference.

"It is the tiger's instinct," he declared. "From creation it has been found in democracies and empires and even among men whose political views might be claimed as pacifist."

Mr. Baldwin cited the American civil war, when the pacifist movement in the northeastern states was willing to fight even slavery for principle.

"Some who are leaders for international pacifism are the least in the caring that only a class war can save society," he said.

Opposes Local Nationalism.

The premier deplored the local nationalisms which have sprung up since the war, but said humanity is progressing slowly. Men realize now how thin is the crust of civilization since they learned of poison gases, which, at first denounced, were useful in seeing out will on the enemy. He thought that every one had altered his views as to what constituted civilization.

Any steps such as labor has proposed will indefinitely postpone the desired end, Mr. Baldwin said. It is necessary to settle the Ruhr, reparations, and give Poland security against Russia. Afterward the government hoped to approach the question of disarmament.

Labor Attacks France.

James McDonald, leader of the Labor party, who introduced the disarmament resolution, and his supporters attacked the league of nations, the treaty of Versailles, and France. They pictured the horrors of the next war, and urged the inclination of the United States and Germany in the disarmament scheme.

"We asked the nation to enlist in a war to end war," said Mr. MacDonald. "We Laborites regard that pledge as still running. It was given to the dead."

"Since 1919 we have expended $1,200,000,000 [\$6,000,000,000] on the army, the navy, and the air force. Yearly we have tried to raise the standards of housing to an atmosphere of beauty. Now we are told that the government is too poor."

League Lacks World's Confidence.

"The league of nations is not enough, for it has not won the confidence of the important countries of the world. I hope that it speedily will, but we want the United States to come into this disarmament conference. That's why we do not mention the League."

With regard to the proposed naval base at Singapore, there is no enemy threat there. What should we say if there is?"

"When the next war is declared it will not be against men, but against women and children. The end will be the creation of a military hegemony. Small nations will be crushed; one nation will dominate, with the others nearly as powerful disputing that domination."

"Big Air Force Is Needed."

Sir Samuel Hoare, air minister, opposed Mr. MacDonald's plan, declaring the government's first duty was to see that the empire's defenses were secure.

"Great Britain," he said, "is open to the most dangerous form of attack and would be almost defenseless without an adequate air force. We have ceased to be an island. In another war the results might be a hundred times more terrible than the last. Our present forces are adequate only for defense."

"This is not the right moment to summon a conference, and the time to trust the government to choose the right moment."

MORAN, Edward Thorpe, John Velton, Elijah Lambert, George Cornelia, Joseph Radney, Charles Schlegler, Richard Shannon, Vincent Spusta, and John Childs, the last named a Negro.
List of Casualties.

THE DEAD:
Joe Jackson, Negro convict, life term from Chicago, killed in fight by having throat cut.

THE INJURED:
Dr. Stubbfield, superintendent of the asylum, right arm broken near elbow and bruised; will recover.

James Denny, guard, badly hurt, stabbed in chest, near heart, and face badly cut and bruised; condition serious.

Ralph Dickey, guard, cut about face and hands; shoulder and shoulder badly bruised; will recover.

Oliver Clark, guard, right arm broken and cut about face and right hand; will recover.

H. S. Lamb, guard, stabbed in right leg, not serious.

Albert Hasemeyer, guard, cut in chest and stomach, lied profusely but will recover.

William Pierce, guard, slight wound on arm.

Horace Bell, guard, cut in chest but will recover.

Story of the Escape.

The state hospital stands on a bluff, considerably above the penitentiary, which is near the Mississippi river. A ravine separates the hospital premises from the city of Chester. The present number of inmates of the hospital is 212. There are thirty-three guards working in three shifts.

The escape took place following the usual evening airing given the convicts. The convicts were turned in the bull pens, which is surrounded by a high iron fence, immediately after supper, and at 7 o'clock were ordered to their cells. Just as the turnkey unlocked the gates down to the corridor a general riot began. The riot was doubt the result of a preconcerted plan.

One of the violent patients inside the building had begun crying "Murder, murder," as he did usually when he saw his fellow prisoners were being sent in for the night. Nine guards were in the inclosure, and they, like the prisoners, were kept in by the wire fence, having no means of exit except through the building.

Had Nothing to Lose.

Supt. Stubbfield said this morning that practically every prisoner was serving a life sentence. The prisoners had nothing to lose and for thirty minutes the most sanguinary fight ever waged in the asylum yard took place. Dozens of convicts were trampled senseless by the guards and trustees and this morning crimson stains could be seen everywhere on the walls and floors and the corridors.

The unarmed hospital guards fought hard to stay the outrush of the desperate men, but were outnumbered. The noise attracted the attention of trustees outside the inclosure and they hurried to the scene, armed with the foot length of gas pipe. Stubbfield ran downstairs from his living room on the third floor and around neck of the pen.

By this time the men had succeeded in getting a hole large enough and a dozen or more pushed through and attacked the superintendent. A Negro tore up a piece of pavement and struck the Doctor on the right arm, breaking the bone.

Countryside Is Alarmed.

In some manner several of the convicts had obtained knives and many guards and convicts were in a hand-to-hand fight. James Denny, guard, was fighting furiously, receiving a deep cut over the heart. Ralph Dickey, another guard, was badly cut on the head and arm. A huge Negro got him to the ground and was in the act of crushing it in his head with the heel of a heavy boot when a trusty hit the convict in the head with a pile of gag pipes.

Meanwhile the hospital men, used to warn the countryside and capture fugitives, were on the scene. A dozen had turned to look out for the escaped maniacs. Citizens of Chester heard the shooting in "Happy Hollow," followed by the screams of the injured men, and they knew that the warning of the sheriff had but one meaning. At once they began locking the doors of their homes, women and children were hurried off the streets, and many residents joined in the frantic hunt. Those who did not join in the search set up night guard in their own homes, and the countryside today was still in a general attitude of defense.

Huge Man a Dangerous.

Joe Jackson, the Negro who was killed, was considered the most dangerous man of the asylum and was constantly watched. As a preventive for his causing trouble he was always shackled with heavy leather arm straps, but the other convicts had cut the straps and turned him loose, a running fight among the fighters. He was found outside the inclosure after the battle with his throat cut. It is not known positively whether he was killed by a guard or by a convict, as the battle was a general混战.

Dr. Stubbfield said: "When I heard the noise I ran down stairs and saw that a big fight was in progress. The action was started, I think, by an Illinois man, Riley. He walked up and down and I saw that Jackson was loose and fighting and I knew that some one would get killed if he got at them."

Price Realized on Swift & Company sales of Negroes. The Negroes sold Saturday, July 21, on whom were sold ranged from $8.00 each to $18.00 each, with an average of $14.70 cents per pound. —Advertisement.

DOCTOR SAVES BOND WHEN KYLE MISSES COURT

Owner of Car Which Killed Man Gives Sick Excuse.

Joseph F. Kyle, wealthy realtor whose automobile crashed into a truck on Saturday and killed C. C. Hudson, Harvey (III) grocer, and seriously injured L. R. Holler, Hudson's son-in-law, failed to appear yesterday to answer a charge of driving under the influence of liquor in the South Clark street court. Assistant State's Attorney Joseph J. McCarthy, after assailing Kyle as one of a group of intoxicated joy riders, demanded that his $10,000 bond be forfeited.

Judge James J. O'Toole refused to forfeit the bond when Kyle's attorney, Francis Hinckley, produced a doctor's certificate, signed by Dr. L. J. Quinn, 122 South Michigan avenue, which stated that Kyle was unable to appear for ten days.

Gives Unable to Appear.

Three girls, two of them cafe entertainers who accompanied Kyle on his ride of death, were unable to appear in court. They will be arraigned Aug. 18 on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Kyle was able to walk around after the accident in which he killed an 80 year old man. Prosecutor McCarthy said: "I see no reason for his non-appearance here. He walked to the hospital and to the jail, and now he tries to hide behind a doctor's certificate. The charge is too serious to brook delay."

Family of Five Injured.

Walter Lindh, 2472 Irving avenue, a man married with wife and three children, were taken to the American hospital last night, suffering from cuts and bruises received when the car Mr. Lindh was driving collided with a street car at Ashland and Waveland avenues.

Frank Klander, 40 years old, 3235 North Halsted street, received serious injuries when he was struck by an automobile in front of 885 Irving Park boulevard, driven by John Elsie and owned by F. A. Cohn, proprietor of the Astor hotel, 172 North Clark street.

Elise was held by the police, and Klander was taken to the American hospital.

Patrick Callahan, 42 years old, 1826 West 15th street, was seriously injured when he was struck by a street car in West Van Buren street. He was taken to the county hospital.

Police are searching for Joseph Schmeiser, 4723 Forestville avenue,

SPEED SHOWN BY PARIS COURT IN DIVORCING IRENE

Castle-Treman Decree Signed on July 12.

BY VINCENT SHEEAN.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

PARIS, July 23.—Irene Castle's decree of divorce was secretly granted on July 12, less than a week after her "reconciliation" with Capt. Robert Treman, millionaire American, and just four days after Treman left her at Deauville. Mr. Treman, who made a hurried trip to Paris, lost his right to win back the noted dancer.

The Paris courts, long noted for their speed and secrecy, covered themselves with a cloak of mystery. The secret final decision, handed down on July 12, was only filed this afternoon, when Mrs. Castle-Treman was already two days out at sea, homeward bound on the liner Lafayette.

The Paris courts had a banner day, granting all divorces for wealthy Americans. Five absolute decrees were granted to Americans. In every case the offenses charged were very minor or merely nominal.

Irene Called Husband Incompetible.

Dudley Field Malone, attorney for Mrs. Castle-Treman, said the divorce had been obtained on grounds of incompetency. This charge tickled the ribbony faculties of the friends of the couple, since they have been seen dancing and dancing together frequently, even as recently as last week. They also lived at the same hotel at Deauville on July 7, while the divorce action was pending in the home-trust.

Baton Cromwell of Philadelphia is the only rich man who has not yet applied to the kindly laws of this new Reno. Mr. Cromwell forgot to take out an "identity card" as required by the French government and therefore was not granted a divorce from Mrs. Hope Truxton Beale Cromwell.

Mrs. Anne Meredith Bigelow was given a decree of divorce from Soher-Sigerson of Great Neck, Long Island, on the ground of desertion. They were married in 1921.

Divorce Baltimore Man.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hotchkiss Keyes secured a decree against Carlyle Keyes of Baltimore on the grounds of desertion.

Mrs. Blanche Summons Elliott divorced Robert Newton Danner of Philadelphia after five years' trial wedlock.

Mrs. Margaret Brown Hostetter turned loose David Hostetter of Kittery, Me., by the stock Paris formula—desertion. After turning out a batch of air tight, waterproof divorces, the court called off action for a week. The summer will see thousands of cases, both French and American.

MRS. M. FIELD III. LOSES $12,000 TO SOCIETY THIEVES

New York, July 23.—[Special.]—Expert burglars who have been raiding big jewelry harbors in the summer houses of society folk got away over the weekend with $12,000 worth of jewels belonging to Mrs. Marshall Field III. at her home in Manchester, Conn., and with $10,000 worth of cash, jewelry, and silver plate from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blair Macdonald, near Southington, L. I., according to reports to the police today.

The burglars who robbed Mrs. Field were believed to have deliberately avoided her return from a dinner at a nearby hotel on Saturday evening in the expectation that she would be wearing a quantity of valuable jewelry which they might steal as soon as she had gone to bed.

Thus the jewels had been stolen but not discovered until Sunday morning when Mrs. Field told Alice Mort, her maid, to put the brooch in the safe. The safe was in Mrs. Field's bedroom. The maid looked for the brooch but failed to find it. Then she and Mrs. Field went to the safe, the door of which was not lugged. Within it was a drawer which the maid had locked the night before, hiding the key in a return of the drawer.

But upon this drawer was discovered to open, the key gone and likewise the contents. The latter consisted of a diamond bracelet, a diamond watch and a diamond pin. These, with the emerald brooch, were valued at $12,000.

NAB OAK PARK 'ART LOVER' AND GIRLS' PHOTOS

Some in Semi-Nude Are Found in Jo's 'Studio.'

Joseph Sussarey, the swarthy "Mexican Jo" of Oak Park, janitor by profession and amateur art photographer by inclination, is in the Oak Park jail awaiting trial this afternoon on a charge of disorderly conduct for having made pictures of girls whom he used to his basement studio—semi-nude pictures some of them.

And more than fifty Oak Park girls—maids, telephone operators, and some "home girls," daughters of business men of the suburb—are making desperate efforts to recover their pictures.

But the pictures are kept for evidence in a large cracker box in Chief of Police Louis K. Magath's office.

Gloss Names Withheld.

Two girls arrested with Sussarey yesterday night by Sergt. Thure Lindhe and Major Wintermute, appeared yesterday to tell their story to Police Captain Frank McKee. But they were released and will testify this afternoon at 1 o'clock. The names of the two girls were withheld.

"Mexican Jo," the 23 year old janitor with the Kodak camera, and the broken English patter about art, dressed figure, slim shoulders, abundant curves, etc., worked in a slow way with "art" as his master, according to the stories told the police yesterday by his girl victims and by his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Sussarey, 1186 North Boulevard Park.

How He Worked.

On Sundays, the police learned, Jo would wander about the nearby forest preserve, or in some secluded nook near the Des Plaines river. He would approach a girl or two girls and ask usually, "You like me tak your pic, no preezy, what? No charge."

In first picture, the girls claim, would be harmless. Then, on the plea of showing something more artistic, Mexican Jo, would urge, "The skirt, not a tea-nay bit higher, there." Or the blouse would be draped carelessly, revealing a shoulder and neck.

The janitor-photographer, still holding art and insults veiled under compliments, would stop there. He could get the girl's name and address, promising to forward the picture free of charge.

Gets Film Plant Job.

Five months ago Jo, formerly a house painter, received a job one night from a company which had come with headquarters in Oak Park. He deserted building, with the stage "out" all in position, furnished a studio for the janitor.

He went out follow up letters with prints of the first pictures taken and showed glibberish about the girl's name and figure before invited to the studio. There he asked her to come to his studio always at night, for a few more pictures. There was talk of a part in the movies.

Once in the studio, "Mexican Jo" worked artistically, where he had left off at the forest preserve or the park.

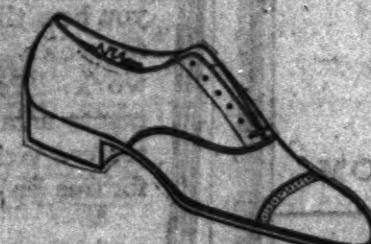

"But my dear," the girls yesterday stated, "his progress was we have seen him do this one. We know him to be a smoothie, different." Many talk of the movies, a few reverent, reverent silence about art; the stage equipment about the room. And usually the blouse was removed; the skirts were draped as he dictated.

Clever After . . . Fashion.

"That man," Chief Magrath said, "was clever. Because he talked broken English when he wanted to and looked mysterious, he got away with nearly anything. Many of those girls would not call a copper the first time any other man made the obscene suggestion he did not then follow up his bait and began to dream of the movies."

In one instance, Jo admitted to Sergt. Lindhe and Wintermute who made the arrest, one of the girls came accompanied by her mother. The blouse was left in a realistic "kitchen ready for next day's work in the company. She thought she was in a box.

"L" MEN OPTIMISTIC OVER ARBITRATION TO START THURSDAY

Chicago elevated railway employees

heartened by the success of their 14,000 fellow workers on the Surface Lines in the arbitration proceedings which last week netted the latter a 2 cents wage increase for 1923 from June 1 and 5 cents next year, are looking to Thursday afternoon, when mediation of their dispute is scheduled to start.

The demands of both groups when Mayor Dever's conciliation efforts proved a strike last month were for a boost of 10 cents an hour, or a restoration of the scale in effect prior to last year's wage cut. The unions in accepting arbitration both agreed to abide by the award, as did the company.

Elevated motormen now receive 22 cents an hour and conductors 70 cents, the rate paid street car trainmen before the award, which, added to what already was the highest traction scale in the country.

The second hearings, as the first, will be held in the city hall council chamber, and the awards will be set aside—Corporation Counsel Francis X. Busch, representing the public; Macay Heyne, former State's attorney, the union, and Attorney James M. Sheean, the companies.

The only change in the "lineup" of arbitrators will be substitution of Patrick J. Lucey, former attorney general of Illinois—appearing for the L. lines—and William H. Williamson, attorney for Attorney George W. Miller, who presented the case of the surface lines.

The surface lines arbitration, beginning July 9, actually consumed nine and one-half days. Since much of the testimony then introduced, it has been indicated, will be cited at the impending hearings, the proceedings are not expected to last more than five days.

William H. McMahon, international president of the traction employees organization, is expected to return from his Detroit headquarters on Thursday.

BABY'S CARD IN STOLEN GARMENT SOLVES A THEFT

A tiny card announcing the birth of a baby girl led to a partial solution of one burglary and uncovered clues to numerous others at the Des Plaines street police station yesterday.

The card, which was tucked in the pocket of a woman's mink coat found in the possession of George Barry, 28 years old, of Avondale, Wis., who was arrested yesterday as an thief, was given to Sergt. Thomas Kellher. It announced the birth of a girl to Mr. and Mrs. George H. Williamson, 1834 Greenleaf avenue. Mrs. Williamson was called and identified the coat as belonging to Mrs. Ralph Johnson of Glencoe, whose home was recently burglarized.

When Barry was confronted with the card, he claimed he had bought the coat for his wife while he was traveling in Montana. Later he admitted that he was unmarried. Other items in Barry's suitcase included five suits of men's clothing, several silk shirts, two revolvers and six watches, one bearing the initials, "G. E. M." which was also identified as Mrs. Johnson's property. Several rings, pins, brooches, watch chains, and jeweled pines were also found.

Offended Once Before.

Nov. 30, 1921, "Mexican Jo," and Frank Loos, a janitor in the Oak Park Y. M. C. A., were fined $500 each for inducing young girls to pose for indecent photographs and for selling the pictures. The suit was filed at that time was the Y. M. C. A. basement.

Losos upon payment of his fine, was made to leave the suburb, Sussarey, being a married man, was permitted to stay in town and was kept under police surveillance.

About a month ago, according to Chief Magrath, Sussarey's actions became suspicious. Sussarey, who had been seen in the studio, and found four girls, fully clothed. Two of the girls escaped. The other two admitted they had been posing with "very little on."

They will appear this afternoon.

LOCATES WIFE OF GOLDMAN IN HUNT FOR FUNDS

Told by Son She Is in Detroit.

(Pictures on back page.)

Harold Goldman, son of Jacob Goldman, professional speculator indicted for embezzeling $30,000 in court funds entrusted to him, was questioned by Judge Kickham Scanlan yesterday concerning the whereabouts of his mother.

Mr. Goldman is in Detroit, young

Goldman said, and furnished her address. Judge Scanlan has been attempting to locate her for months, it was said, and has had detectives trace her in three states. Judge Scanlan said, he wished to question her concerning what money or property Goldman turned over to her, and to recover any valuable which were purchased with money belonging to court receivership funds. Goldman is said to have given her an expensive automobile and jewels.

Gave Husband Money

Mrs. Goldman had been in Chicago recently and her husband was involved in the investigation, her son said, and at that time gave him $600. On two other occasions she gave the son money which he gave to his father when he came to Chicago, he said.

Recently he brought $1,500 from his mother, young Goldman testified, which he was to give to Thomas Woods, a former employee of Goldman's, who was making attempts to secure the release of his son on bond or the abandonment charges. Goldman still resides in a cell in the county jail, having been unable to obtain $60,000 bond set by the grand jury.

Son Held in Custody

Young Goldman was arrested Saturday in a lop office and held in the Briggs hotel by detectives from the state's attorney's office. He was returned there last night and held in custody.

The son admitted having had several meetings with his father, though Goldman had repeatedly stated he did not know where his wife was staying.

Young Goldman had been held in Toledo and finally to Detroit, where he is now staying with relatives, according to her son.

BRITISH BOARD OK'S 12 MILE LINE FOR RUM SEARCH

U. S. Hopeful; Waits Action of Foreign Office.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Washington, D. C., July 23.—(Special)—Hopes of the Harding administration that the British government may ultimately accept the Hughes proposal for extending the zone of search for liquor from three miles to twelve were revived today by receipt of official reports that the British departmental committee was revising the question and reported favorably.

While it is by no means certain the British government would be bound by this report, state department officials believe it will have considerable weight, especially since the committee was headed by Ronald McNeil, under-secretary of foreign affairs.

The action of this committee, as well as legislation taken by Congressmen such as Lord Birkenhead, tend of officials to believe there is a large body of opinion in Great Britain which sees nothing objectionable in Mr. Hughes' treaty proposal.

No Government Reply.

Thus far, it was stated, "the state department has been in touch with any one from any of the governments approached on the question of the reciprocal agreement to permit searching of ships for illegal commodities up to the twelve mile limit."

There have been informal conversations between the secretary of state and the diplomatic representatives in Washington of the various governments, but these diplomatics have expressed only personal opinions. It is believed that the other nations approached are waiting to see what the attitude of Great Britain will be before taking any definite stand.

Nevertheless, officials believe they can see a decided change in British official and other opinion since the real facts of the Hughes proposal became known.

British Misunderstanding Proposed.

At the outset there was a good deal of misunderstanding in Great Britain as to the exact nature of the proposal. While there was no reason why the true scope of the proposed agreement should not have been perfectly clear to the governments concerned, many persons in England had the idea that Mr. Hughes was suggesting an extension of territorial waters from three miles to twelve miles, and this conception was extremely disastrous to many Britishers.

This impression apparently was fortified by the attitude taken by certain portions of the American press, and even Lord Curzon's inference were not entirely innocent.

Lord Birkenhead, too, was at first under several serious misapprehensions, especially with regard to certain phrases employed by the supreme court of the United States in its recent decision.

Birkenhead's misapprehension, however, did some damage, inasmuch as the idea spread that the controversy over ship's liquor under seal might have been avoided in the discussion of the executive, and that Mr. Hughes was merely trying to bring pressure to bear upon Great Britain to consent to a ban in the enforcement of prohibition.

This misapprehension has been at least partially corrected, though it apparently still exists in some quarters.

CAPTAIN RUSSELL TO TRY FOR CLASS IN ARMY COLLEGE

By order of the secretary of war, the adjutant general of the army has invited Capt. James C. Russell to become a candidate for admission to a class of five reserve officers who will be detailed in the Army War College in Washington to take what is known as the G-1 course. This is intended to prepare officers for duty as assistants in the G-1 division of the war department general staff.

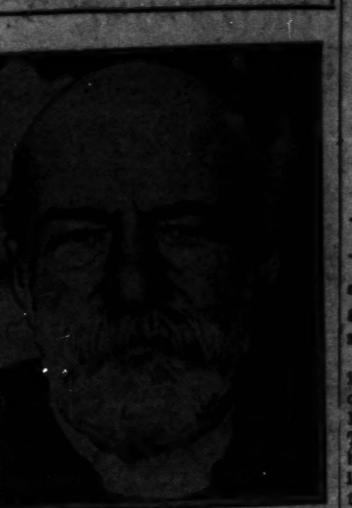

The curriculum includes informative studies on the principles and methods of procurement, classification, assignment, and replacement of military personnel. It also comprehends studies on the duties and functions of G-1 in the war department, corps area and higher headquarters, in the field and corps.

The G-1 course for reserve officers begins Jan. 2, 1924.

TO FACTORY OWNERS

I would be difficult to determine precisely how much of industrial unrest is the direct result of the drab dreariness of the workers' environment. Yet many progressive and successful firms have found it profitable to invest substantial sums for the sole purpose of improving the conditions under which their employees live and work.

Whether because of this, or because of the effect upon visiting customers, or through civic pride, or for advertising purposes, some of the largest corporations in the middle west have called upon this organization to landscape the grounds before, or about, their general offices and plants.

This service is available to all factory owners—to those responsible for the grounds about public or semi-public institutions, and special representatives trained in this phase of landscape work will call, upon request, make helpful suggestions and submit estimates. Phone Harrison 3520 or write.

TRAFFIC TOWERS MAY BE READY BY NEXT WEEK

Construction work was completed yesterday to make a check of traffic flowing along and into Michigan boulevard between 12th and Lake streets in preparation for the operation early next week, if possible, of the new traffic towers.

"It is essential, the experts say, that a close estimate be made of the volume of motor and pedestrian traffic crossing, so the time interval between the signal flashes of the new towers may be determined.

Twenty or thirty checks are expected to begin work today.

Mr. Reynolds expects to leave for Chicago Wednesday on the Twentieth Century Limited.

GAG RUHR WITH NEW LAW TO END PASSIVE WAR

French Will Punish All Resistance Pleas.

BERLIN, July 23.—By the Associated Press.—The internal Rhineland high commission has issued a stringent martial ordinance, according to press dispatches received here, aiming to throttle the German passive resistance in the Ruhr and Rhineland. The ordinance apparently leaves no avenue but the Berlin newspapers assure it will serve only to stiffen the resistance. It provides extreme penalties for participation in propaganda or written or spoken opposition to the prevailing ordinances, for interference with the commission's activities, or otherwise organizing resistance.

Prussia Stiffened.

Punishment is provided even in the case of offering a sack of potatoes as an inducement for holding out against the occupational authorities, according to the dispatches.

"There is only one reply to this arrogant assumption of authority—the active resistance," says more than ever before the Lokal Anzeiger. "The Allemann Zeitung says the ordinance virtually makes punishable any action by a German in the occupied areas, as 'nearly no German would lend a hand to help the commission.'

TRY TO HURRY FRENCH.

BY VINCENT SHEEAN.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

PARIS, July 23.—A polite intimation from the British government that London would like an answer to the reparations note before parliament adjourns Aug. 3 has produced a fury in the French foreign office.

Frenchmen are in a fury over the entire meeting in an examination of President Baldwin's proposals. He called in his reparations advisers in the afternoon.

Conversations with the Brussels cabinet were opened at full speed early in the afternoon in the hope of getting action by the end of the week. A call was sent out to round up the French cabinet for a session to-morrow morning to consider the British note, despite the fact that M. Poincaré had previously announced that no cabinet session would be held until the end of the week. Most of the ministers had left Paris during the scorching week-end.

Belgians Stay at Home.

Another communication, which does not add to the optimism of the Quai d'Orsay, has arrived from Belgian Foreign Minister Théodore de Bièvre. De Bièvre had been requested to Paris to confer with M. Poincaré when the Baldwin letter arrived. The Belgian leaders, unwilling to antagonize the large party in Belgium which wishes the country to adopt a midway attitude between France and England courteously requested a three-day truce. It is understood that M. Poincaré is to receive the letter unanswered before the debate in the house of commons on the Ruhr on Thursday next, but the French to-day considered this impossible.

Considerable resentment is expressed at the British and Belgian attempts to hurry up the proceedings since the French believe that the resistance in the Ruhr will collapse in the immediate future, thus changing the whole complexion of the problem. M. Poincaré prefers to delay the international conference as long as possible until Germany either caves in or shows definite beginnings of a collapse in the Ruhr.

LAST U. S. RELIEF AIDS IN BALTIC STATES DEPART

riga, July 23.—The last of the Americans connected with the American relief administration left here to-day for home. Among them was Capt. John C. Miller, leader of the party, who has directed the work in the Baltic states area for the last four and a half years.

During this period he organized the feeding of children in Estonia and Latvia. When Gen. Tschudin was released from the Bolsheviks in 1919, Capt. Miller was obliged to take charge of all railroads in Estonia and reorganize them in order that the relief might be continued.

It was during this retreat that Richard Henry Little, TANCONC correspondent, was wounded. Capt. Miller ran a special train to Yamburg and saved Little from capture by the Bolsheviks.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 23.—Report today from all sections of southern California showed that the earthquake last night was general but that there was no serious damage outside of San Bernardino and nearby towns. STARTS GIRL, 9, FOR POLICE; SHE IS MISSING NOW

Last Friday Ethel Schmidt, 9 years old, was given a job by her mother, Mrs. Benjamin Schmidt, 2637 Fulton street, and told to take it to the Western Avenue police station.

"The big policeman should be punished," was the parting direction of Mrs. Schmidt.

Ethel, Mrs. Schmidt says, dutifully started with the note. But after several hours had passed without word from the little girl, Mrs. Schmidt became uneasy and traced Ethel to the station and a search begun.

Up to yesterday there was still no word from Ethel and Mrs. Schmidt offered a $25 reward for information of her whereabouts.

PAY TAX TO FRENCH

BY PAUL WILLIAMS.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

DUSSELDORF, July 23.—The waterworks at Geisenkirchen, owned by the Northern-Westphalian Mining company, has paid coal tax to the French. The director of the waterworks appeared at the French tax bureau and, had handed over 100,000,000 marks as the tax upon 500 tons of coal.

This is the first instance of the tax of 40 per cent being remitted to the forces of occupation in compliance with Gen. Degoutte's order declaring the revenue was no longer payable to the German government.

Another development has been the resumption of normal production in the "President" mine in the full knowledge that when sufficient stocks are accumulated the French will seize the mine. This is located at Bochum and is owned by the Becker Steel works, whose mill is working part time only through lack of materials.

Five thousand men from the Stumm mill at Bochum, which has been closed, have been given employment at the Stumm mine nearby.

There was an angry demonstration in Datteln, staged by 2,000 Krupp miners when they did not receive the full amount of their pay, owing to the shortage of paper marks.

SOMEWHERE IN EUROPE, July 23.—I have before me the Moscow Pravda of June 18, 1922. The first paragraphs in one item read as follows:

"Saturday a banquet was given by the American relief administration, who are liquidating work within the next few weeks. As representatives of the Russian government there were present Commissars Kamenev, Dzerzhinski, Litvinov, Chicherin, Raden, Sokolnikov, and Lander."

"The head of the A. R. A., Col. Haskell, greeted the representatives of the soviet government, thanking them for their energetic and loyal help in the work of the A. R. A. Before all he thanked Tovarish Dzerzhinski, whose energy helped them out of the extremely difficult and made possible what even seemed impossible to my mind. And just why Dzerzhinski is invited to more than interesting to my mind, although it is ancient history now."

"A year ago last April, Lomonosov, purchasing agent for the Russian railroads, informed me that unless the railroads received aid within three weeks they would collapse. He was very pessimistic over the outlook. I asked what would happen to the A. R. A. work, and he said that unless the A. R. A. aided the railroads they would certainly go smash."

"After my interview with Lomonosov was published in Paris he was immediately called back to Moscow, and the next time I met his wife she informed me that her husband had received a severe cold down, talking so freely, as when he gave the interview the Bolsheviks were negotiating with the A. R. A. for a large food loan to feed the railroad workers."

THE CHESTER OUTBREAK.

We do not know anything of the superintendent of the Chester asylum for the criminal insane. The superintendents of many state institutions are merely county politicians and not chosen for fitness. The administration at Chester managed to permit the escape of thirty or more wild human animals, murderous maniacs and criminals adjudged insane. They were sane enough to preconcert a dash for liberty, arm themselves with knives and clubs, overpower their guards and get away into the surrounding country.

The dispeated say that the country did not sleep. No community could with its byways full of map killing maniacs. It is when a state institution, for criminals or for the insane, permits the escape of its inmates that the responsibility of the custodians is realized and with it the wish that policies could be depended on to keep such dangers from the public.

We also doubt the social theory which keeps from the full penalty of law a murderous person who has already killed but who is judged insane. The sentiment may be valid in some fashion, but it has its dangers. It protects persons dangerous whenever they have the opportunity and it excuses useful and innocent people. If some terrible murders had followed the Chester outbreak we might doubt that we had been preserving the right people.

AN ECONOMIC INTERPRETATION OF THE RUHR.

In the American view, the tremendous drama of Europe has for its principal figures political, military and cultural forces. We are conscious of economic forces, but we are not at much pains to find out what they are. Our interpretation is in the main sentimental and cultural. We believe that German maritime and commercial ambitions and British interests of the same order had something to do with bringing them into conflict, but we probably give less attention to the economic factors in the post-war situation than they deserve. We recommend, therefore, a most timely article in the quarterly "Foreign Affairs" by the distinguished American geologist, Dr. C. K. Leith of Wisconsin university, on the world wide steel situation in its bearing on the French occupation of the Ruhr.

Dr. Leith tells us that in this greatest of modern industries there are three great units of preponderant importance, using the term unit to designate the whole network of iron mines, coal mines, transportation lines (water and rail), blast furnaces, steel plants, finishing plants, and factories using iron and steel products, which goes to make up each of the principal geographic groups in the iron and steel business. These three chief units are those of the United States, England, and a group consisting of German, French, Belgian and Luxembourg mines and mills. All three account, says Dr. Leith, for no less than 98 per cent of the post-war steel producing capacity of the world, apropos of which Dr. Leith makes the interesting comment that probably "a greater volume of mineral resources has been used since 1900 than in all the preceding history of the world."

Now what is significant of the third unit is that while it is, or for its highest efficiency and prosperity, should be, an economic unit it is not a political one. In other words, national boundaries run across it, and hence the economic factors which would unit or cooperate are checked by conflicting political forces.

In the concrete the situation might be roughly summarized by saying that France has the iron and steel industry of Germany the coal, or, as Dr. Leith puts it more accurately, "The iron and steel industries of the Ruhr form the core of a single economic unit which overlaps into France, Belgium and Luxembourg. The bulk of the pig iron and steel production is in the Ruhr territory near the coal; the remaining production in Belgium, France and Luxembourg is from subordinate and tributary units." And Dr. Leith says that the economic influence of the Franco-German coal, iron and steel unit can hardly be overestimated, for nearly all of the remaining industrial activity of western Europe is dependent upon it in one way or another for its driving power and for its raw, semi-finished and finished iron and steel products.

This is a comparatively recent development. In the Franco-Prussian war the iron and steel industry had not developed far, and though Germany drew the new line to include a known body of iron in Lorraine it was later discovered that the richer bed was still in France, so that when the great war started the French field was estimated to contain 3,000,000,000 tons to the German Lorraine field's 2,000,000,000. All, of course, is now in France.

The situation at present presents, therefore, a political-economic problem of first rank in importance and of the greatest difficulty. If either nation could control the whole unit it would be the master of the continent in war or peace. So long as it is divided, it must suffer greatly in efficiency. The impulse toward unification will be constant. We have heard of repeated private efforts to bring about a coalition of French and German interests, but they seem to have failed. We can see clearly enough that France, now the greatest military power on earth and actually in possession of the Ruhr, would feel some reluctance in giving up the hope of permanent control, which would not only place her in an economic Gibraltar, but assure her against military attack. She now has what Dr. Leith calls "the highest trump card of the European game." The game being what it is, we can hardly blame her for any reluctance to give it up. Premier Poincaré knows its economic importance, for he is what in America we would call a steel man, formerly general counsel of the French "steel trust," the Comité des Forges.

Dr. Leith's views in sum are that "the recent growth of this industry has created an industrial problem for which there is no historical precedent. The industry cannot be divided geographically into self-sustaining and effective units; its physical unity favors unit political control. Partnership control, in the circumstances, has become difficult if not impossible; it would be a condition of highly unstable equilibrium. Unit political control confers supremacy in Europe both in war and peace, suggesting that the fight for such control will ultimately be one to a finish, even though it may be temporarily suspended. The failure of France to secure immediate reparation is a small matter compared with the ultimate issues at stake."

SECRETARY HUGHES ON SOVIET RECOGNITION.

Secretary Hughes' response to Mr. Gompers' letter on the subject of recognition of Soviet Russia is a restatement, but it is a timely and highly desirable restatement of our government's position. Although the policy of diplomatic non-intercourse was begun by Mr. Wilson, Mr. Harding and Mr. Hughes adopted it, and we are confident, in so doing expressed the will of the great majority of the American people.

Nevertheless there is an opinion favorable to recognition, the chief support of which is radical labor, and Mr. Gompers considers it strong enough to call for vigorous opposition. What is called conservative labor, or as we prefer to call it, loyal American labor, has not been deceived by an active propagandist in favor of sovietism and has no illusions as to the character of the communist tyranny at Moscow. But persistent propaganda, gabbling and concealing facts, has its effect, and there are specious arguments about which appeal to many minds not sympathetic with socialism, such as the argument that refusal to recognize Moscow is refusal to recognize the Russian people's right to choose their own form of government.

Secretary Hughes' statement of our position corrects this fallacy. Our refusal to enter into diplomatic intercourse is not founded on any internal policy or act of the soviet regime, nor is it the conduct of that regime to the American sense of humanity and justice. Our government refuses to deal with Moscow, as we have refused to deal with Mexico, because its rulers do not recognize obligations essential to responsible and friendly intercourse among nations. Not only do they refuse to acknowledge the binding force of these obligations, but they are engaged in world wide activities for the overthrow of existing governments and systems of society.

Their response to this charge is in fact a confession of it. It is the sophistry of Poch-Bah. The Moscow government disclaims the international mischief of the Red propaganda and points to the Third International. The joker is the fact that the men who run Red Russia run the Red Internationale.

The strength of Red radicalism in the American labor movement ought not to be underestimated. Mr. Gompers is making a fight for American democracy which deserves the active support of all Americans in and out of the labor movement. The strength of the European revolutionary movement is founded on ignorance of facts and the perversion of facts. It must be combated by the dissemination of the truth, and by a courageous assertion, such as Secretary Hughes' statement, of the principles on which our government and all true-Americans take their stand. The example of liberty and progress under the American system is, or should be, one of the great influences in civilization today. We do not propose to stultify it by entering into intercourse with a tyranny which is in every essential the deadly enemy of all we hold dear.

AUTOMOBILE ABDUCTIONS.

A Chicago man and his wife accepted the offer of a lift from men in an automobile. It was late at night. The men presently threw the husband out and made off with the wife. These abductions are of weekly if not daily occurrence. The purpose is robbery or rape, and in spite of the repeated publication of such stories people continue to accept invitations from men they do not know and expose themselves to terrible consequences.

The lift on the road is an old act of kindness. Decent people in settled, orderly places offered it because they were amiable and wanted to help another person along the way, but prudence in a city, or elsewhere, for that matter, says that it shall neither be offered nor accepted nowadays.

A good deal of crime is on wheels. Criminals are scouring the streets and the country roads. The people they pick up are virtually helpless. Contrariwise, the man in a car who yields to a request for a ride may find a gun at his head in short order. The good Samaritan may go to the hospital in a barrel. It is the ugly necessity of city life to regard a stranger as a potential enemy. It need not result in discourtesy, but it says keep your guard up. Cruelty often leads to an empty pocket book and a black eye, or, in the case of a woman, to worse.

Editorial of the Day

HAS PROSPERITY RETURNED?

[Cedar Rapids Gazette.]

Since Jan. 1 more cotton has been manufactured and consumed in this country than in any previous months in the history of this country. Pig iron production is the largest ever recorded and so also is steel ingot production. More locomotives have been made and delivered and more unfilled orders for locomotives are on the books of the manufacturers than ever before. Only once has the production of anthracite coal ever exceeded the output of the last six months, and with only two exceptions the output of the bituminous mines is the greatest on record.

Automobile and truck production in the first six months of this year exceeded any previous six months' output. The railway business association announced that the railways never were in a better position to handle the peak traffic. Insurance companies report record sales. Banks report larger savings deposits. The moving picture patronage has been unprecedented. It begins to look as if Woodrow Wilson was right when he said something about prosperity being a state of mind. Our state of mind does not seem to have kept pace with improving conditions.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quip fall where they may.

LOVE-SONGS IN THE LINE

Is thereught in thought or language,—either human or divine,—like the merry-mourful music of the love-songs in The Line? ... All the emotional wildness of the feathered forest-choir! all the sweetness of a Sanctus from the throats of chanting friars.

But we never get an inkling by suggestion, clew or hint if the themes are really living, or imagined just for print: is the deep, delicious anguish—is the sharp, ecstatic ache—just a figment of the fancy or a case for Doris Blake?

Are they myths—these men and maidens—that the eye has never seen, or a living clerk, attorney, bachelier, actress, king, or queen? Does she like a light soprano? Are his accents deep and loud, like the booming voice of Allah from a river thunder-cloud?

Is she featured by the Shuberts? Is her figure to be seen in interpretative dances and a yard of crepe-de-chiffon? Is there any valid reason why the facts are never shown? Any chance to get the address, photo, thumbprint, name, or phone?

What tickles us, as a matter of fact, is the sight of poor Tom Gompers of the Tribune, whose columnistic vacation-tickets are so often of the one-way kind.

FRANCE should be able to pay all she owes to us out of the fees paid by Americans for divorce.

NOW that Irene Castle has hers, there will be nothing for the cables to carry save fugitive items about the Ruhr, the strained Anglo-French entente, and such.

WHEN we think of her, which is every time her name gets into print, it is, first, for her singing in "Watch Your Step!" and, then, as hostess in the first Manhattan cabaret that asked a dollar for a highball. He—Vernon—was clever in spite of his being a tavern dancer. The family strain was in his acting; and the strain was partly Harrymore and partly Grossmith.

WAR-TIME nifties in attire still appeal to the jeunesse dorée of Rockford (Ill.), one may assume from an ad, clipped by J. L. W., telling that Nyman, an local haberdasher, offers Men's Shirts—Bargains—of $2.00 and $2.50.

Sir:—The inspiring to find the city's detectives in the front row of most pictures in the diurnal prints! I fear more serious scenes after looking at the half-naked or fully-gowned girls in the saloons and other obscuring scenes, shrimp of a thief or suspect. The old notion that the business of a detective requires secrecy has been shattered. We see now, that in order to protect the public criminals are made fast to the chimney pipe, and that they are therefore destined from criminalizing when they are one or more loitering in the vicinity: east-as-piss?

PRAYER TO PERSEPHONE

Persephone, whom the long, gray shades enfold,—

Here, above thee, the years are weary and useless;

Pray unheeded, roses changing to mold,

Hopes aborted only are given up.

Truly, I tire of dawn that forever shines;—

Of days, like lovers, that smile deceptively!

Send thou a draught of thine oblivious wine;

Find, in thy darkness, a little snook for me:

Only a nod—a forgotten, lonely place

Where, when the world above is breathless and rushed,

I, with thy violet about my face,

May lie quiet and hushed.

ALLIED SHIPS TO SALUTE TURKS AS PEACE IS SIGNED

Criticize Demands of U.S. for Special Rights.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 23.—A naval ceremony wherein both Turkey and the allies will participate and wherein allied warships will exchange salutes with Turkish cruisers for the first time since 1918 will mark the signing of peace tomorrow at Lau-

The Turkish cruiser Hamidi, which during the Balkan wars manœuvred the Greek fleet, will have its mooring at the Golden Horn, says it has been sold only by the allies since the armistice, and steam up the Bosphorus to the picturesque palaces of the caique, where it will be joined by the allied fleet for an exchange of salutes. The Turkish warships will be reinforced by the sultan's yacht, which also has been out of use for years.

Oppose U.S. Demands.
In answer to Ismet Pasha's telegram stating that the Americans deserve to continue the negotiations at Lausanne, Angora, has replied that if an immediate agreement is not assured Turkey will insist upon the rest of the treaty being framed at Constanti-ople asserts that the Americans are demanding certain economic and cultural privileges as well as freedom from customs duties on supplies arriving in the "name" of colleges, hospitals, and other American charitable institutions.

Fair Customs Abuses.
While Angora hopes that an agreement will be reached shortly, the press is urging that nothing more than favored nation treatment be granted. Mention is made of the abuses possible in exempting American philanthropists from customs duties. An incident is quoted wherein an Armenian hospital, under British protection and granted customs exemption, is selling sugar in the open market.

Ready for Signature.

LAUSANNE, July 23.—By the Associated Press.—A great dinner to celebrate the advent of peace was given tonight by the Swiss Federal council.

At 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon the ceremony attending the signature of the treaty of Lausanne will be held in the hall of Lausanne university. The affair will be exceedingly simple. President Scheuer of Switzerland will deliver an address; then the plenipotentiaries will sign the various docu-

The Americans will attend but will not sign the treaty or any of its annexes. It will be left to regulate Anglo-American relations with Turkey in a special treaty now under negotiation. Several points in this treaty are still in dispute and the Turco-American pourparlers have been suspended pending receipt of instructions from Washington and Angora.

Poles Sign Pact.
Poland and Turkey entered into new treaty relations here today. Their representatives signed three documents—a general treaty establishing friendly relations, a commercial treaty on the basis of the most favored nation, and an additional commercial convention.

VALPARAISO "U" TO OPEN DESPITE CLOSING RUMOR.

Valparaiso, Ind., July 23.—(Special.)—The board of trustees of Valparaiso University at its regular monthly meeting, held this afternoon, authorized the following statement:

The afternoons year of Valparaiso University will open Oct. 1, 1923, all rumors to the contrary notwithstanding. The board has at no time contemplated closing the school and no such step is now being considered. Advanced registrations of old students, applications for admission, and reservations for dormitory accommodations justify the belief that the attendance in the fall quarter will be larger than at any time within the last five years. A number of new men have been added to the faculty. Plans have been developed for the reconstruction of the administration building, which was burned last winter. Two influential men have been added to the board of trustees. Everything indicates a successful year.

Cat Jumps to Owner, Settling Suit Over It.

A neighborhood quarrel over an American cat was settled by the animal itself in the Chicago avenue court yesterday when it jumped into the arms of Mrs. William O'Leary, 1523 North La Salle street. Mrs. O'Leary had caused the arrest of James Calino, who, she charged, had stolen her cat. When the judge told Mrs. O'Leary to call the cat it left Calino and ran to the woman.

DIZZY? It's Your Liver!

Your liver is a natural blood purifier. When you become bilious, have headaches or dizzy spells, it's likely because your liver is deficient in albumin. Then the normal separation of waste and toxins is interfered with. Take YEL-O-GRAN to remove those excessive acids and restore the alkaline balance, and so stimulate the liver naturally.

YEL-O-GRAN

Not a drug but a compound of alkaline salts and body normally needs. Scores of Chicago physicians take Yel-O-Gran themselves (names on request). Go to your nearest druggist now and get a jar. Many physicians prescribe. Albert Jensen Laboratories, 7 W. Madison St., Chicago.

GUINEA HEN STRAYS FROM HOME; SEE WHAT SHE BROUGHT BACK

Philadelphia, Pa., July 23.—(Special)—Samuel L. Pancost, dealer of weights and measures, reported to the police for Delaware county and a raiser of poultry at Broomall, said he is the owner of a guinea chicken which was hatched five days ago. The guinea hen stole her nest some distance from the barn and came home with the lone chick, which Pancost, upon examination, found to be a cross between a guinea hen and Rhode Island rooster.

The bird is healthy and it has all the features of a guinea so far as the body is concerned. The remainder of the body, including its legs, is that of a study member of the chicken family.

Pancost has placed the mother and her lone bird in a separate pen, where he will closely observe its develop-

DIVORCED WIFE FIGHTS TO MAKE SON BARON'S HEIR

BY JOHN STEELE.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright 1923 by The Chicago Tribune.)

LONDON, July 23.—Arguments were begun today in the court of appeal on the appeal of the Hon. Mrs. Christobel Hulme Russell against the divorce awarded her husband, the Hon. John Hugo Mann, baron of Ampthill. On the ground of intimacy with an unidentified man, declared to be the father of her child, the husband alleged that he had never had normal relations with his wife, who claimed that marital relations took place while he was in a somnambulistic condition.

Mrs. Russell and her mother were in court today, but Russell was not present.

Patrick Hastings, K. C., counsel for Mrs. Russell, said, in opening the case, that his client was essentially a modern product and did and wrote things which would not stand criticism from ordinary standards. It was evident, he said, that she did not love her husband, who was not the sort of man to inspire affection, but this did not affect the facts of the case.

One important fact was the position of the child, who might be deprived of succession to the Ampthill barony. The suit would never have been brought if it had not been for the child's position.

Hastings argued that under the laws of England neither husband nor wife is allowed to give evidence of lack of relations in marital life, except in the case of legitimacy of a child born in wedlock.

He also argued that if a husband, by merely declaring he had never had relations with his wife, could secure a divorce, a new terror would be added to modern life.

SPILLED SUGAR IN MANN HOME BECOMES SOUR

Lake Forest Man's Wife Replies.

It was one pound of sugar against two baby bats. But the sugar cost

90 cents a pound and was hard to get. It was wartime. And the ten baby fingers were only those of his own small son, and they were always around. So William E. Mann gave his son a good spanking when the youngster twice overturned the silver sugar bowl.

And it was wartime, with his wife, formerly Julie Manierre, daughter of William R. Manierre, and prominent society musician.

Not So Sugary, Either.

Spilled sugar trickled its succulent way through the affidavit filed yesterday by Mrs. Mann in answer to her husband's divorce suit filed Saturday before Judge Claire C. Edwards at Waukegan.

Other things stuck to the sugar in the affidavit.

For instance, Mrs. Mann denies that she is a "music mad," and contends she pursued the study of music to support herself and 5-year-old son.

Again, the affidavit declares that the Lake Forest attorney's charges regarding insanity in his wife's family are untrue. Harold Lee Manierre, Mrs. Mann's brother, never has been, according to the affidavit, a patient in any confinement or other hospital for any damaged. He was never discharged from the navy on account of any mental ailment, but served in the air forces throughout the war.

Her "Affair" with Boddy.

In answer to her husband's charges of her interest in Philippe Boddy, a Bavarian youth, Mrs. Mann's reply is that Boddy was only 15 years old when she first met him in Bavaria in 1909. She met him again in 1913, the affidavit states, when he visited the United States. Just has not seen him since.

Following up the sugar bowl episode, with another story of Mann's past violence, the musician asserts that Harold Manierre was once called upon to protect his sister from her husband, who was menacing her with a gun.

YES, I HAVE NO OPINIONS, HIRAM SAYS ON RETURN

Won't Talk Politics; May Take Stump on Europe.

New York, July 23.—(Special)— Senator Hiram W. Johnson (Rep., Calif.) returned from Europe today on the Leviathan dodging all questions as to the possibilities of his being a presidential candidate, the chances of a third party movement and as to the political outlook in general.

In answer to a specific question whether he would run for the office, he replied that "I have no politics in me right now."

"Because of my four and a half months' absence in Europe, I do not know the political situation here," he continued. "I shall not answer any questions bearing on domestic politics. Right now I am not thinking politically either for myself or for any other candidate."

Hat Blows Overboard.

While Senator Johnson in his interview aboard the police boat Mecon, which brought him to the battery, would not definitely reveal his intentions in the next campaign, a kindly wind blew his hat overboard. This was regarded as a good omen by Louis J. Ganz, a Chicago lawyer and Johnson adherent, who promptly remarked:

"Well, senator, your hat's in the ring anyhow"—pointing to a series of circular ripples which receded from the straw. The senator smiled but made no comment.

Headed by Rhinelander Walde, former police commissioner, and George Henry Payne, chairman of the committee, respectively of a committee of New Yorkers arranging a dinner to Senator Johnson, a group of about fifty admirers of the Californian went down the bay to meet the Leviathan at quarantine.

Aided by the street cleaning department band they accorded him a noisy greeting as soon as they saw him on one of the upper decks. Mrs. Johnson remained aboard the Leviathan, arriving at the pier several hours later.

Refuses to Talk Politics.

At the outset of his interview Senator Johnson said that he would not talk politics. He said that he would listen to any question put to him, but make no answer.

"Senator Johnson, who was elected to the senate the other day, is quoted as saying that you do not talk enough," one interviewer told him.

"That's a fair criticism and I bear it with a fair degree of equanimity," he replied. "I find across the water that Americans talk too much. I'd rather not talk enough than too much."

"Are you willing to discuss foreign affairs?" another asked.

"Not at present," I am told. "Committee has arranged dinner to me Wednesday night and that the committee desires me to express whatever views I entertain on foreign relations. At that dinner I will give my conclusions, which I do not claim to be anything more than impressions. But I shall talk of these impressions of the atmosphere in which I have been moving in an absolutely frank manner."

Will Talk Freely Later.

"If I am able during the ensuing month I will try and talk to the people about our international relations and the attitude of our country, in my opinion, should maintain."

"Does that mean you will follow President Harding's itinerary?"

"It doesn't mean any propaganda or special itinerary, but simply a question of where I can and when I can."

Among passengers on the Leviathan was Senator David L. Walsh (Dem., Mass.). He said the Minnesota election should prove a lesson to both old parties in indicating the public's attitude.

Broadband Back in Iowa.

Washington, D. C., July 23.—Senator Smith W. Brookhart returned to his home state yesterday. He had been invited to deliver the first of his promised series of speeches in favor of an extra session of congress before a meeting of the Farmers' union at Eldon, Iowa, Saturday. Members of the union from seven counties are to attend.

Fascinating Feminine Perfection May Be Yours

It is so easy now to make sure that the pains you take with your toilet and your appearance are not marred by a subtle something which we are all subject to. It is so easy to make sure that your toilet is so sure that not the faintest trace of body odor is noticeable. You have just to apply a few drops to your clothes and are so assured that others notice them when we cannot see or smell them. But now that you have the delicate perfume, there is no reason why we should not safeguard our clothes from damage. Just take a little Delicene on the finger tips and apply it to the underarms, the feet and the hands. In a moment you are in an instant all trace of personal odors will vanish. Only a cool, sweet, clean fragrance remains. And that is what perfection is. Delicene is quickly absorbed. It is harmless and soothing to the skin. It is a delicate perfume which a woman has used. Naturally, it cannot injure the sincerest dress materials. Get Delicene at your drug store or at the Standard Oil Company, 1000 Garfield Blvd., Detroit, Mich.

GET READY, GIRLS

BUSINESS ETHICS CHIEF TOPIC AS ROTARIANS MEET

Maintenance of high standards in business ethics is to be the keynote of the program for the next year outlined by high officials of Rotary International which opened a four day council yesterday.

"Business men should hang a mirror in a conspicuous place in their offices and study themselves in it as the best antidote against dishonesty with themselves," declared Raymond M. Havens, chairman of the committee of business methods, in the opening speech to the seventy-five council members. Mr. Havens, together with Russell P. Greene, headed the delegation from Kansas City.

Old Slogans Rapped.

Mr. Havens took a rap at the ancient custom of merchants in displaying such signs as "No Trouble to Show Our Goods" and "Money Cheerfully Refunded."

"Of course it's trouble to show goods but worth it if the goods are sold," he said. "And the other—who ever heard of money being refunded cheerfully? Refunds come from honesty, not cheerfulness."

"There are four main points of business contact," he continued. "First, that between the management and the employees, the management and the competitors, the management and those from whom they buy their goods, and the management and the general public."

Outline Rotary's Plans.

Delegates from six different nations heard the welcoming address. President George Gardner of Philadelphia outlined the plans and policies for the next year, as worked out at the convention in St. Louis in June.

Proper code of conduct, he said, reduces costs, eliminates destructive competition, maintains high standards of trade relationships, protects the public from irresponsible business men, and tends to elevate business principles.

In addition to every district in the United States, clubs of England, Scotland, Canada, New Zealand, and Mexico sent delegates to the council. Other officers present were Everett W. Hill of Oklahoma City, vice president; John Bain Taylor of London, Eng., second vice president, and Frank Lamb of Hoquiam, Wash., third vice president.

A banquet at the Cooper-Carlton hotel featured last night's program.

ENDS LIFE OF GAS.

Joseph Kayak, 28, 2515 Aurora street, a laborer, was found dead in his home yesterday with a blow leading to an open gas jet in his mouth.

William Schoeler, father of the other girl, said that his daughter was movie struck.

TWO GIRLS LEAVE HOMES TO SEEK FAME ON STAGE

Believing that they have been lured away by the attractions of theatrical life, the police were asked yesterday to search for Dorothy Schoeler, 15, 6113 Dorchester avenue, and Laura Thompson, 16, 4216 Greenview avenue.

The Thompson girl disappeared on July 12. She had declared she was going on the stage.

William Schoeler, father of the other girl, said that his daughter was movie struck.

BOWLER DEMANDS TRUANT SCHOOL HEAD BE OUSTED

Cruelty Charges Against Seven Instructors.

Removal of Principal Fred E. Smith will be demanded and charges of cruelty will be filed against seven instructors at the Parental school by Ald. Thomas Bowler, member of the Forty-first ward, most Thursday afternoon. Bowler said yesterday he will make his demands and file his charges with the civil service commission after he has presented the testimony of four former employes at the school to Charles M. Moderwell, president of the board of education.

"If, after hearing this evidence, Mr. Moderwell does not of his own accord remove Smith," Ald. Bowler said, "I will go to Mayor Dauer and demand Smith's removal myself."

Wants Change of System.

"I think there is far more than enough evidence to cause Smith's removal right now, but aside from all that I am in this fight to stay until the Parental school is taken out of the power of one man with ear-like authority and placed under the supervision of the whole school board or a committee of the board."

At a meeting in the council committee chambers this morning, Ald. H. W. Klinke of the Forty-second ward, Ald. George L. Hart of the Thirty-ninth, and Ald. Christ Jensen of the Fortieth will sit with Ald. Bowler and at 10 o'clock receive a number of mothers of boys who have been punished in the school.

Trustees Hear Charges.

Ald. Bowler presented his charges officially for the first time yesterday at a conference called by President Moderwell of the school board. Present at this conference with the president were Superintendent of Schools Mortenson, Principal Smith of the Parental school and Mrs. W. S. Heffernan and Miss Grace Temple, trustees.

Mr. Smith denied all the alderman's charges, stating he was "working" an investigation. Supt. Mortenson later in the day issued a statement upholding Smith and stating that his faith in the manner in which Smith has conducted the affairs of the Parental school has not been shaken.

Smith's Job Tough.

"I was principal of the school for nine years myself," Mr. Mortenson said, "and I know something of what a man in that position has to contend with."

Ald. Bowler also exhibited a notice which he said had been pinned up on the wall in the kitchen of the school, stating he will demand to know what it means. The notice reads:

"Meals: All those not living at this institution are expected to pay 25 cents each for meals eaten in this kitchen." "What does it mean?" Bowler demanded. "Who is it that they are feeding out there at the school for 25 cents each? I intend to find out."

SCORES TRIBUNE FOR EDITORIAL ON ALIEN IDEALS

Have Aided Wisconsin to Reforms, Official Says.

Madison, Wis., July 21.—(By United Press)—The newspapers that have attacked the people of Wisconsin and Minnesota as "aliens and radicals" is commenting on the election of Magnus Johnson to the United States senate are severely denounced in a statement today by Attorney General Herman L. Eiken.

The editorial which called forth Sherman's criticism appeared in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and said:

"Wisconsin has a large population of conscious aliens. They have American citizenship and some are of American birth, but they are merely living in America. The core of this alienism is German and it is from the Germany of Marx."

Eiken follows this quotation with one from Senator Robert M. La Follette in which he later points out the contradictions of foreign stock to "progressive democracy" and the "lofty political ideals of the liberty-loving farmers of Wisconsin."

Cites Wisconsin Reforms.

"Wisconsin," the statement continues, "was the first state to shake off the boss and the corrupt political machine. Twenty years ago it adopted the primary for the nomination of all candidates for public office and thus placed political sovereignty in the hands of the voters rather than with those who exploit the people. Wisconsin at the same time left all the states in applying the principle of civil service in having appointments to all public positions on merit and fitness alone."

"Still earlier Wisconsin inaugurated the movement under which the railroads, public utilities and other big interests have been compelled to pay their share of the taxes the same as the farmer and the home owner. Wisconsin was again the pioneer in a program of income taxation under which each pays according to ability. This since became the model for the government under the stress of war and has been copied in nearly half of the states. Wisconsin early applied in practice the principle that the rates and services of railroads and public utilities are subject to regulation to place the small shipper and the small business man on an equal basis in this respect with his large competitors."

Has Pride of Foreign Ancestry.

"Many other innovations in government are derived from the state. This is but a part of the illustrious story of the struggle for democracy in Wisconsin in twenty years." Eiken continues. "These great social accomplishments were made possible because of the responsive cord touched in the hearts of the liberty-loving people of Wisconsin, who with their descendants came so largely from Germany, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Ireland, Poland and other European countries."

The attorney general deplores the passing of such editors as Medill of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE; Robles of the Milwaukee Sentinel; Davis of the New York Sun; and Greeley of the New York Tribune. "Commercialism, typified by big advertising contracts, financial favors and unscrupulous competition, has sought to destroy a free and independent press," he says.

"THE TRIBUNE seeks to convey the idea that 'alienism' is a basic consideration in Wisconsin politics and that Americanism is being submerged in this state."

"THE TRIBUNE is in a position to make such charges against Wisconsin. Was it not THE TRIBUNE that only last spring brought out a candidate date for mayor of Chicago whose only approved asset was that he had a German name and a racial appeal could thereby be made to the German voting of Chicago?

"Can a newspaper that condones Newberryism make claim to being a real defender of Americanism in this country? Did not the United States senate, a resolution adopted by that body, openly assert that Newberry was elected to the United States senate by practitioners of a very dangerous to the prosperity of a free government?"

"The whole history of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, in recent years, has shown an arrogant and brazen contempt for the law where such laws interfered with the profits and the privileged of those for whom THE TRIBUNE speaks."

Also "Ruled" Northwest Farmers.

"Nothing but the infamous policy advocated by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and carried out first by one party and then by another, has been responsible for the prostration of the greatest industries of Wisconsin and Minnesota agriculture. Because the farmers and others who are not of the exploiters will not submit, they must be made the target of this scurrilous abuse."

The people are being aroused. The influence of these control groups is being overthrown. This situation upon a large part of the backbone of the substantial citizenry of the middle west and the threat of the economic lash with which THE TRIBUNE's actions will not increase the confidence of the people in either the editor or the news columns of the kept press. Without confidence, no warrants charging confidence game on seven counts as he left the county jail after being released on bond on a charge of operating a "bucket shop."

Even a predatory newspaper cannot endure indefinitely without readers."

Eiken's statement concludes.

SHERMAN

To Boards of Directors That Direct

THERE are two kinds of "good-will" that make a business valuable. One is the good-will of the public. The other is the good-will of your workers. Each can be acquired only by careful cultivation.

Many directorates devote great effort to cultivating public good-will, but disregard the attitude of their labor. They point proudly to climbing sales curves, but are forced to curtail dividends. They fail to appreciate the difference between passive and constructive good-will on the part of the employees.

It is not enough that your workers are tolerant of present conditions. The "urge to do"—the urge that makes better workers, happier families and more prosperous communities—may be entirely lacking in a body of employees who present every outward sign of contentment. Their apparent good-will may be merely passive.

Happily, the worker is a thinker. He can be taught the real meaning and purpose of labor. And once his interest is aroused, through the proper appeal, he brings to his work a constructive good-will that saves a possible loss of one dollar in every four now invested in your payroll.

A valuable booklet, "Stopping Payroll Losses," will be sent gratis on your request. Please address Dept. N-13.

Notes

RAILROADS MAY ACT IN ADVANCE OF GROUP MERGER

BY O. A. MATHER.

It is possible that a considerable amount of railroad consolidation will be initiated by the railroads themselves long before any action is taken by Congress under the theoretical project of grouping all the roads into a limited number of great systems. Proposals for several railroad mergers were laid before the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday. The Texas, Panhandle and Gulf asked authority to construct an extensive new system in Texas and New Mexico, involving 350 miles of new construction and acquisition of 100 miles now operated by the Gulf and Western. The plan would give a new route between Fort Worth, Texas, and Tucumcari, N. M. No estimate of the cost of the project was presented.

H. G. Southern May Extend.
The Kansas City Southern asked approval of its project to acquire the Kansas and Missouri Railway and Terminal Company, which has been organized to take over the Kansas City belt line, which was owned by the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient, now in receivership. The K. C. and S. and Southwestern applied for permission to merge its twelve subdivisions into one system. While no statement of ownership or names of customers was made necessary, a general exchange of securities between the present corporation and the subdivisions is planned.

Other proposed consolidations are being discussed. The plan of the New York Central to create a new trunk line between New York and Chicago by a consolidation of the Jersey Central and several other lines is opposed by authorities of the New York Central. The moves concerning rates refer to permission of the New Orleans, Texas and Mexico to handle the Dayton-Goose Creek traffic on the ground that the proposed price is excessive.

Another Gasoline Cut.
Another reduction in gasoline prices was put in effect yesterday by the principal eastern marketing organizations. The wholesale price was cut a cent a gallon to 29 cents in Massachusetts, 28 cents in Boston. The New Englanders reduced gasoline to 30 cents. Eastern refineries are cutting production to meet the demand for gasoline. The New Orleans, Texas and Mexico is reducing the Dayton-Goose Creek rate on the ground that the proposed price is excessive.

Clothing Prices Is Advanced.
There were price changes in several other commodities yesterday. The American Woolen company opened its spring, 1924, line at prices averaging 8 per cent above those of this autumn and 11 per cent above spring opening prices a year ago. This means some advance in clothing prices. Following a series of reductions covering recent months, the price of men's suits has risen from 4 to 6 cents a pound by the American Clothing Refining company.

Some money in building operations was evidence in the "barometer" of the Detroit Pine association for the week ended July 14, showing an increase in orders of 16.9 per cent, in production of 15.7 per cent, and in shipments of 11.6 per cent, compared with the preceding week. Automobile tire manufacturers reported a normal seasonal demand, but operations are not up to capacity.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Selling of steel products in general is still below the level which caused the favorable market, which came about mainly during the early part of the year and resulted in the piling up of contracts which assure the major steel mills of sufficient business to keep their plants operating near maximum capacity. The steel producers report an increased demand for special products. This is particularly true of materials consumed in the oil producing country.

Coming on top of record breaking anthracite coal loadings for the first six months of the year, the report that the English coal miners have given up their strike and are back to work in the pits has resulted in considerable comment among railroad men. The apparent discrepancy, they pointed out, is due to the fact that while the loadings in England have been high, the immediate consumption has been greater, and at the same time the northwest has been more furnished than usual and is getting a good supply through the lake ports. All of these factors have gone to New England, they say.

Railroad men are pointing out that in the last month the prices of railroad stocks have moved with the number of stockholders—in other words, while the prices of the stocks have declined, the number of stockholders has increased. One of the indications of this is the large number of holders in the Pennsylvania Railroad, which has increased from 137,429 the first of the year to 150,000 by July 1.

There were shipments of gold have arrived in New York. The Aquitania brought seven tons of gold, valued at $2,500,000, destined from England to J. P. Morgan & Co., and four tons of boxes, value at $450,000, destined for the General Warships Fund, owned 100,000 gold marks, owned by the Reichsbank to the Equitable Trust company.

At an advertising hearing in Buffalo before Federal Judge Knox on the matter of bids for 700,000 shares of Willys-Overland, a stock held by the receiver for the Willys corporation a bid was made by an undisclosed bidder, who offered $1.50 a share, what more favorable to creditors and stockholders than the two bids previously received. The hearing was adjourned to give the various bidders an opportunity to better their offers.

The Higgins Ice company has called in $2,200,000 capital stock, par $100 a share, and authorized $200,000 shares of new stock of no par value, to be issued at $100 a share, the basis of five shares of new for one of the old stock. This will leave 75,000 shares of new stock, which will be retained in the treasury.

The Ontario Steel Products company has released statements on the common stock by declaration of a quarterly dividend of 1 per cent. The dividend is payable 1 per cent made in February, 1924. The Illinois Paper Company declared a 4 per cent dividend as an account of deferred dividends, payable Aug. 15. This clears all accumulated dividends.

Resources of 102 state banks in Chicago on June 30 totalled $1,553,442,265, an increase of $5,753,723 over the total on April 3, according to a report on the condition of the state banks compiled by State Auditor Hinsdale.

SAFE COMPANY TAKES TITLE TO $260,000 FLATS

In a trade recorded yesterday the Great Floating Safe Company acquired title to property 1001x100 at 5113-23 Washington boulevard from Morris Knob, trustee in part payment. The estimated price of the Washington boulevard property was $260,000, subject to an encumbrance of $140,000. The Grand avenue property was priced at an amount of $37,000.

The property on Washington boulevard is occupied by a thirty-nine apartment building. The safe company will remain in their present quarters until the tenants of their new building have been opportunity to move. Title to the property was taken by America Carroll, secretary of the safe company, which manufactured unbreakable safes for her clients.

Flat Building Sold.

Frank L. Lang & Son have sold for Charles L. Roberts the twenty-four-unit apartment building located at 5415-25 Dorchester avenue to Peter G. Raft for $100,000.

The real estate was sold to J. M. Garman, by Ross A. Hause for $47,500, subject to $34,000.

T. A. McGroarty & Co. negotiated the sale.

The American Bond and Mortgage company is issuing $100,000 first mortgage real estate gold bonds, secured by the Dorchester Court apartments, 4750-55 Dorchester avenue and 1355-61 East 47th place. The building will be brick containing four stories and thirty-seven apartments.

Postpone Naming Receiver for Penn Dollings Company

Philadelphia, Pa., July 23.—The R. L. Dollings company and the International Note and Mortgage company paid dividends to stockholders of their subsidiary companies, though these companies were not earning money. Mont Leaky, vice president and general manager of the R. L. Dollings Company of Pennsylvania testified at a hearing in the United States District court today for the appointment of a receiver. Judge Dickinson continued the case until next Wednesday and issued a preliminary injunction restraining the officers of the Pennsylvania company from conducting any business or handling books, papers, records, or other company property. The appointment of a receiver was postponed in order that proper notice might be given the receivers of the Dollings Company of Columbus, O., Judge Dickinson declared.

Chinese Buy American Wheat at Present Prices

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service] SHANGHAI, July 23.—The low price of American wheat has caused extensive buying here. It is stated that 40,000 tons already have been contracted for, chiefly by Japanese dealers in the expectation of supplying Chinese mills. China's annual wheat yield, which is estimated at 26,000,000 tons, is now considered inadequate due to the extensive construction of mills during the last two years. In 1920 China purchased about 5,000 tons of wheat, chiefly American.

South Chicago Sale.

Lewis Kahn and Patrick J. Murphy, members of the law firm of Pecon, Grayson, Kahn & Murphy, have sold the former building, located at the southwest corner of Commercial Avenue and West Street, to Webb and Jeanette Diamond for $100,000. The premises are improved with three story frame buildings, including offices and dwellings.

For a sum of $100,000 cash the United City Bank has secured the leasehold of the property at 355-61 West Ontario street from the Ontario Metal Building corporation, at a reported monthly rental of $1,000. The property is occupied by warehouse, office and dormitory.

The Three Story Apartment.

Martin Levitt & Co. report that they are making plans for a three story store and apartment building to be erected on the northwest corner of Milwaukee and North avenues.

PARIS, July 23. France and Germany have split to take on the proposed reply to Britain's demand on reparations through the efforts of Premier Clemenceau, who has threatened to act as a mediator if Germany does not permit him to act as arbiter.

France Fights.

With Italy and the British standing by the British stand on the question, the French are supporting the British stand on his proposal.

First—Cession. France in the Ruhr, Germany's occupied territory, has agreed to pay the amount of reparation money for indemnities, that Great Britain and the United States desire.

Will Not Send. On July 10, Germany had sent an ultimatum to France and Belgium demanding a joint and simultaneous payment of the amount of reparation money for indemnities, that Great Britain and the United States desire.

Second—The even. France has accepted Germany's demands. The even is occupied territory, the payment of reparations, reduction of armaments, and indemnities for indemnities, that Great Britain and the United States desire.

Third—Ceasefire.

A ceasefire has been outlined to the governments that have accepted the receipt of the British ultimatum. The tendency of the British to end hostilities and calling off the number of public works conferences to be held in Paris today.

"Seven hundred trains daily in the Ruhr, 400 freight," said Mr. Baldwin, "and the number is increasing rapidly to increase 1,000 more."

Four—Reckless.

"A month ago 120,000 miners weekly used 120,000 tons of coal, while there were 200,000,000 tons of coal in the biggest mine in the world, proving the war was not a mere resistance."

Five—Anger. Authoritarianism today.

The tendency of Britain to end hostilities and call for a conference to discuss a peace plan, including American, British, and Swiss participation, the findings of which will be submitted to the general assembly.

Six—Belief. Realizing the weakness of the present cabinet, the government is trying to solve the Rubble with France and Germany, and to make overtures to Britain, probably will be made in London by taking into account the French offer.

BY JOHN S. (Chicago Tribune) (Copyright 1923, B.)

LONDON, July 24.— Owing to a pledge made by Prime Minister the British government to discuss a peace plan in Paris that Great Britain is putting forward, establishing its own peace plan, the most careful consideration of Baldwin's recent statement, and his statement that he is a strong advocate of this plan, it is believed that this is the only possibility in view of what it means.
